

Ovaries are often referred to as internal testicles just as testicles are referred to as external ovaries. They are intricately and physically connected by fallopian tubes to the uterus. Please also read the material on uterus.

Ovaries are fed by adrenals, (which are stimulated by the pituitary/hypothalamus). Most ovarian (and uterine) problems reflect hormonal insufficiencies of the adrenals.

Many women are somewhat oblivious to ovarian issues and describe pains in the back or lower abdomen as the prevailing issue. Pains in the lower back often run concurrently with adrenal problems, signifying probable problems with both adrenals and ovaries. Pains in the lower abdomen often run concurrently with pains in the sacrum area, signifying concentration in the ovaries.

We are strong advocates of "keeping your parts" and take a dim view of removing ovaries, except in dire emergencies. If removed because of "early menopause" symptoms we find considerable problems from then through the right menopause age (50-52). The real solution to "early" menopause is in the adrenals.

Problems with breasts could reflect ovarian issues as many women are reminded with breast tenderness during menstruation.

Coughing could indicate ovarian issues because the cells in the ovaries are almost identical to the cells in the esophagus and wind pipe.

Women are more sensitive to magnetic issues on the earth and moon than men. When there is earth movement brewing, like a volcano or an earthquake, it will upset the adrenals and the ovaries. Once in a class in Europe most all of the women were coughing uncontrollably. We used every applicable lung and bronchi remedy plus every cold or chemtrail remedy applicable to no avail. By testing the master adrenal spot (shown on the DVD Healing By Hand) we realized that an earthquake was coming and its advent was imbalancing adrenals/ovaries/esophagus. We passed a simple refrigerator magnet around to all the women coughing. Each put it on the top of their head for between 10 and 20 minutes. The coughing decreased by 75%. (Two earthquakes were recorded in the ensuing 5 days).

PROBLEMS

The most common issues we see in the ovaries are the paramyxovirus (PARAMYXOVIRUS), which is the same virus family of measles, mumps and rubella. The residues of these childhood diseases are often countered in adults with MDC, MEASLES ENCEPHALITIS, MEASLES ENDOCRINE, MUMPS ENCEPHALITIS, MUMPS ENDOCRINE.

The favorite parasite to come to weakened ovaries is the schistosoma family. Our BLOOD LYMPH FLUKES remedy has been a favorite for its results in this organ.

CAPSULE CARCINOMA (usually with RETROVIRUS CAPSULE) can become an issue when the ovarian capsules (location of estrogen production) are pushed by another imbalance. After the birth of a child, or other large stresses, the ovarian capsule can rupture. CAPSULE REPAIR and/or CAPSULE CONSTRUCTION can help repair pre-existing weaknesses. We have few testings to report so far, but the capsule remedies may repair estrogen "leaks" that lead to weight.

OVARIAN CONNECTIONS

If endometriosis settles into the walls of the uterus, it often spreads to the ovaries. CHLAMYDIA TRACHOMATIS has readily solved both the uterine and ovarian issue.

Similarly, because ovaries are attached to the uterus, many problems of the uterus reflect a similar condition of the ovaries (and vice versa). For instance, if Tuberculosis bacteria settles in the walls of the uterus, the same bacteria will often settle into the ovaries and uterus (TB ENZYMES).

It is common to see a LEIOMYOSQUAMOMA or a LEIOMYOMA of ovaries or esophagus (usually accompanied by a retrovirus). It is common to find coughing and swallowing problems associated with ovarian issues because of this cell similarity. Other types of lumps and bumps are possible. The list of applicable remedies for such is shown in our "Lumps and Bumps" chart.

Ovarian problems often are the cause of breast issues. We commonly review breast, ovarian and uterine issues together (and they often lead back to the adrenals).

"The Pill" often leaves the fallopian tubes overworked and engaged with remnants of the pill. We often need to antidote the remnants of the pill with FALLOPIAN BALANCE in order to give relief to ovaries. When the fallopian tubes are "tied" as another means of birth control, there is often a weight gain that ensues because of the estrogen output of the ovaries. PROGESTERONE BALANCE (a kidney remedy) is often used to balance the estrogen excess that becomes weight.

COMMON ADRENAL PROBLEMS

There are a number of adrenal issues that start the process of adrenal exhaustion, which leads to ovarian problems. Cytomegalovirus (CMV) or Epstein Barr (RVEB) are the current favorites to cause mononucleosis ("kissing disease"). This often started a long time ago with school stresses and many have what used to be called "Walking Mono" (because clinical mononucleosis used to put people to bed).

People who had difficult times or shocks in their childhood could still need the remedies SHOCK or SHOCK GO. The emotional issues could leave a TEMPORARY ADRENAL PARALYSIS. Remedies for specific emotionally draining issues are found mostly in the Borna Virus Combinations. Birthing especially after the 2nd child can leave you with exhausted adrenals and with ALTERED ADRENALIN.

Long term issues so deplete the adrenals that lumps can grow.

ADRENAL ADENOMA (accompanied by a retrovirus) is the most common lump we see that starts reproductive gland problems. Around menopause we start to see MULTIPLE ENDOCRINE NEOPLASMS (Types I-VI), especially when night sweats or hot flashes start. (MEN III is the most common remedy that effectively ends night sweats when taken with a retrovirus and possible Coxsackie B remedies).

ALDOSTERONE COMPLEX or an ALDOSTERONE BLOCKING ADENOMA (with an appropriate retrovirus) is a direct hormone disrupter. (One person has asked us to put a warning with this remedy. After taking it she became pregnant and gave birth to her 4th child at age 44). There are other lumps listed in our Lumps and Bumps Guide.

Complications to lumps or long term adrenal conditions often include the Coxsackie B series.

In 2007 we added ADRENAL EXHAUSTION - FEMALE. (The remedy has so much to do with hormone balance that we include strong advice to female homosexuals NOT to take this remedy for fear it would interfere with current sexual orientation). MENOPAUSE FEMALE is not so hormonally charged, but again aims at the adrenal effect on the uterus and ovaries.

In 2006-07 we tested a discovery of the relationship of the Atlas (top neck bone) to Polycystic Ovary Syndrome and Polycystic Breasts Syndrome. It seemed far-fetched but logical when we started. Herein we happily report one of the most effective discoveries we've made.

We have included this description in several sections of our material because of its wide applicability to multiple issues. On the right you see a pointer to the Atlas. It is connected by ligaments to the sphenoid bone, just above it. There is a condition of the Atlas where it has an inherited propensity to bend, similar to a scoliosis of the whole spine. When the Atlas bends, it pulls the Sphenoid against the Pituitary which sits in a "saddle" of the Sphenoid. The pressure causes a Pituitary Sack Cyst which turned out to be the most common cause of Polycystic Breast Syndrome and Poly Ovarian Cyst Syndrome.

Because the Pituitary emits an Adrenal Corticotrophin Stimulating hormone, it is key to the adrenal function for everyone. If it is compromised by Sphenoid pressure, it develops a Pituitary Sack Cyst, which has become the cause of polycystic ovaries and polycystic breasts. The friction and the cyst lead to Pituitary Adenoma (which attracts a retrovirus and usually several Coxsackie A viruses). The combination also attracts a bacteria called Prevotella Melaninogenica which is the most consistent cause and guarantee of depression we have found.

Now we see a depressed person, who is tired because the adrenals are starved for a "food-like" hormone. We see depression and usually intermittent headaches, sometimes bordering on migraine intensity.

Because the pituitary and adrenals are not working, we see ovarian problems (and later breast problems). The hormonal upset itself is hard to experience, not to mention the common cramping and loss of libido.
