

For these times, money is a subject of concern for many. Over the years Healers Who Share has made remedies around the issue. The collection is assembled here with questions to unveil hidden beliefs about money, wealth, prosperity and personal development.

ATTRACTING MONEY is about much more than money. The subject is actually a springboard for questions you can use to change your life. So far the most successful remedies we have heard results from are Money Attract, Monetary Abundance (MULA), Worth, Penicillin Measles, Penituberculosis, Procrastinate, Organize and Trust. The track record alone tells the diversity of the elements.

What is your attitude about money?

- Were you raised with little money and do you think that is the way it should be?
- Were you taught a disdain for people who had money? Are you afraid to get money because you subconsciously fear others will disdain you?
- Do you hold some spiritual belief that money is the root of all evil?
- Do you believe people without money are good martyrs?
- Do you have some spiritual idea that life without money is more holy.
- Are you hiding behind a struggling commercial effort to appear in the world, but not making money because you actually want to be spiritual in hiding.
- Are you angry about how you think money is made and used?

Money is a tool, not the root of evil. Our news media loves to make lots of press about people who made money by taking from others. The media can report those events and shape that opinion. However, the more common and accurate image of people making money is quietly doing their jobs or running their business steadily and dependably.

A school janitor died and left one million dollars to the school in his will. The school, the community and the students were shocked. As the people around the janitor were interviewed a profile developed of a man who loved doing whatever he could do to support the kids getting the education they needed. He lived frugally, saved regularly and his personality was an inspiration to everybody around him. His gift to the school became one of the examples to the nation about how money can be made honestly, saved carefully and used with honor.

Take the sensational stories of the media about thieves and take the story of the janitor into your heart. Which one do you choose to remember and emulate?

VIEWPOINTS CAN MAKE OR BREAK YOUR SUCCESS

Einstein said the only really important question in life is, "Is the universe friendly?" Do you see the invitation of the world or the limitation of the world? Do you see injustices of the world and want to protest? Or do you see the world made better by taking constructive steps in ways that add to the possibilities for all?

An actor used to go to parties in Hollywood with a six pack of beer because that was all he could afford. "Six-pack Clint" (Eastwood) finally saw the opportunity and started with "spaghetti westerns". Another actor used to wander the streets of the Hollywood hills saying, "This town is never going to give me a chance". Jack Nicholson also found a better viewpoint and success.

Does your view of life and organization of life include your success in life?

- Do you trust the universe to make only souls who have value?
- Do you think you have value that is significant or insignificant?
- Do you let yourself feel self worth and appreciation?
- Do you have some belief that you don't deserve money because you don't deserve good things in your life?
- Do you know how to accept help and encouragement from the universe?
- Are you easily overwhelmed by expectations of others?
- Can money come to you?
- Do you love somebody so much that you would withhold your own success so that you never made that person feel less successful?
- Is your experience (so far) that, no matter what you do, money doesn't come ?

Many people were raised with little money and feel imprinted with the belief that life is just that way for them. Others were raised with little money and decided that wasn't right for them. People like Oprah made a choice to change and did so. The car magnet, Henry Ford said, "There are two kinds of people in the world; those that think they can't and those that think they can . . . and they are both right." That may have been a parent's thought from more limited times. A choice in life is needed so that you don't live someone else's opinion of how life is.

REJECTING MONEY OPPORTUNITIES DOES NOT BRING MONEY

If you are always donating your time, it shows you don't respect your time. If you dream of winning the lottery so that you can donate lots of money to charity, it tells the universe that you don't believe you can manage money in your own projects. If you want others to give you money or provide for you, you're telling the universe you don't believe in your own ability to make money. If your biggest effort is in a "past-time", could you turn it into a business?

What do you do that rejects money from your life?

- Do you respect the law of exchange that allows people to exchange something for what you do to maintain their dignity?
- Do you seek employment that limits your income?
- Do you fight or protest issues in life?
- Do you fight against so-called authorities (who might just be doing their jobs as they interpret them)?
- Do you feel like you have to be on the inside tract to get anywhere?
- Do you spend more than you make so that you rarely have enough?

A lady had a daughter, was divorced, depressed and on welfare. Her chances for making money looked lower than zero. One day on a train she got an idea for a children's book. Many other mothers feel they need to write children's books because they are so involved with children. Still didn't look good.

Her brother-in-law was part owner of a cafe and every afternoon when business was slow she parked herself in a corner table and while the daughter slept she began to write. The books were wild and weird. Her name was Joanne Rowling and she wrote the Harry Potter series. By 1994 she had an estimated worth of over 1 billion dollars.

PATTERNS AND BELIEFS

There are patterns of attracting everything except money. There are patterns of sabotaging your opportunities for money. There are patterns of rejecting money. And there are patterns of fearing money. They all get in the way of receiving money.

We all have a bigger picture, a plan that we made before we came in and “forgot” for awhile. Money is one of the tools to achieve intentions. It isn’t everything and it sometimes helps. Do you actually need money to achieve what you want?

Are you afraid to start new chapters in your life?

- Do you procrastinate?
- Do you see yourself as a thinker and not as a doer?
- Are you afraid of failure?
- Are you afraid of success?
- Can you enjoy success being you or do you think you have to become something you’re not?
- Do you see the pursuit of success as a struggle that ultimately ends in failure?
- Do you remember and dwell on failure or success?

A lady in Los Angeles was stuck in the rich wife syndrome. Her husband made lots of money, so she had lots of money. Her husband worked a lot so she had lots of time. Lord was she bored. She could have made the rich person’s mistake and bought an art or decoration shop because of her good taste. (In real estate they know this syndrome well).

Instead she made herself a handbag that she liked. When people saw it they asked where they could buy one so she said she would find it for them. She went home and made more, only to have more people ask for these “rare, handmade bags”. She had so many orders that her maid sat down and helped her. The orders doubled and her maid said she had friends who could make them at home.

A flurry of cars started coming by her home every day to get the raw materials and design to make the bags needed to fill the orders. So many cars came by that the police investigated her for drug trafficking. When the cops found she was clean, the wives of the cops started coming by to get raw materials to make the bags. Finally the orders were so overwhelming that they moved the operation into a 25,000 sq ft warehouse. It was the birth of a multimillion business based on someone taking a step that made a new life chapter.

DO WHAT YOU LOVE TO DO AND THE MONEY WILL FOLLOW

This is one of the oldest expressions in the world and it is still true. Many people think of what they love to do and then blush. The answer is usually not that activity. We normally start with the expression, "I don't know what I love to do". Then we start with the expression, "I want to help other people". It progresses to what you want to do and it happens to help other people. Look around you and see what you surround yourself with and like. Look at your history in life and see what made you happy.

Are you willing; are you ready; are you able to follow your dream?

- Are you holding back money from yourself so that you won't trap yourself in the wrong profession?
- What do you love to do and are you doing it?
- If you had all the money you need, what would you do?
- Do you love doing what you are doing now?
- Do you enjoy the process and the goal of what you are doing?
- Have you let yourself see that each of us has something important to do in life?

Recently a book was written about very wealthy people who were not (yet) in the Forbes top 100 wealthiest people. The author traveled to many cities, often small, and interviewed each of the people profiled in the book. They were successful because they wanted to do a good job, provide a good service or a good product and they cared about the value people received from what they did. They loved doing what they did. Their biggest problem was overworking. They often had active spiritual lives and actively good marriages. Many rose from modest means. Few made their money because they wanted to make money. Most made money as a byproduct of doing a good job.
