

Abscesses are defined in medical dictionaries as a collection of pus buried in tissue, organs or confined spaces. We might add that the pus comes from exploding overworked cells.

Carcinomas and sarcomas are irritated cells from over use. Their outer coating seems to deteriorate, leaving the cell prone to infection. Carcinomas and Sarcomas can attract retroviruses which can change their designation of irritation to something similar to cancer. The exploding cells of abscesses simply disintegrated into pus.

We occasionally have seen abscesses over the past decade. Now we see abscesses rather routinely, especially in adrenal cells. Adrenal cells have started to measure in the negative territory, below the +1 to +100 scale we have used.

The extraordinary shift has brought us new information that has brought us another step from the remedy Abscess Address. We now have made Abscessecore Complex which entails the causative agents of "exploding" cells.

We see this shift reflecting the increasing effect of SPADES. This partially explains the world march towards insanity. It warns all of us that we could act as crazily if we don't heal the condition.

Over alarming ? We almost hope it is. Yet, we see plus hear increasing desperation, anxiety and overreaction as a trend in the society. We make this emphasis because the conditions are new, not previously seen and can easily overwhelm the subject. Sounds like the economy.
